The Class of 1957, New Bedford Vocational High School

Foreward

This is our story. Four years of growing pains. Just turn the page — a familiar face; a phrase almost forgotten. For some of us, here are a few memories, a little reminder of happy and eventful days gone by. To the Staff and to our Advisors, our deepest gratitude.

Yearbook Staff

"I think that nothing is of more importance for the public weal, than to form and train up youth in wisdom and virtue. Wise and good men are, in my opinion, the strength of a state far more so than riches or arms."

—Benjamin Franklin.

Key Club

Another year has passed and the New Bedford Vocational High School Key Club has continued to progress; both in initiative and in school-community service. The highlight of this year's program was the installation of glass blackboards in the school gymnasium. The annual sale of Christmas trees and wreaths was conducted along with the sale of pencils with the name of the school printed on them.

The officers who have capably managed the Key Club this year are: Raymond Messier, President; Hector LaPlante, Vice-President; Robert Bendiksen, Treasurer; and Michael Dodge, Secretary. The close liaison between our Key Club and the New Bedford Kiwanis Club; along with the helpful and capable guidance of Mr. Eugene Goldrick, faculty advisor; and the department heads, has enabled the club to take great strides in the way of progress and for its members to meet leaders in the community, to use and further develop their abilities, and to attend conventions and conferences at which they learned club and business principles.

The installation of a new flagpole is another school project sponsored by the club this year. It will replace one mutilated in a storm. As the year hurriedly rushes along, the Key Club plans to have a "car wash"; a joint installation banquet, at which all the newly elected officers of the regional clubs will be installed, and a Key Club Dance.

CLASS HISTORY

WASHINGTON

LINCOLN

EISENHOWER

Class History

Well here it is June—1957. Whoever would have thought it would arrive so soon. Remember that September morning four years ago, when we arrived at Voke, shy and wonderous of our new surroundings? We were soon welcomed and put at ease in Hammond Auditorium by Mr. Mackintosh and Miss Early. A dance, welcoming us, was sponsored by the Junior Class. Paulette Bonneau was crowned Freshman Queen. During the year we were busy making new friends and getting better acquainted with our teachers. At the conclusion of our Freshman year we looked forward to becoming Sophomores.

The summer passed quickly and before we knew it, September had arrived. During this year, the girls had the misfortune of their well-liked Household Arts Department head, Miss Agnes Early, resigning. They were fortunate to receive Mrs. Dorothy Howland as their new director, who was well-known as a teacher and the supervisor of the Nursery School. At the conclusion of our Sophomore year our hearts were saddened when Mr. Francis Holt retired from teaching. He will always be remembered by all of us for his devoted coaching in Track and Field Events. Of the many laurels his teams achieved, we will well remember John Collins and Bob Caswell winning State Championships in the shot put and 220 yard dash respectively. Bob, in winning, established a new record.

Juniors at last! Now we are upper classmen. John Collins, Pauline Bonneau, Nancy Brackett, and Raymond Messier were elected as president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively, as class officers. Soon after we sponsored a dance for the Freshman. Lilian Hall was crowned queen. We were honored to have our football team win the Bristol County Co-Championship this year.

Hustle and bustle soon filled the air, for on April 27th our unforgettable Junior Prom was held. Irene Yates was chosen Queen with Lynette Chicoine as her Lady-in-Waiting. A trip to Boston to see the Ice Follies was certainly a memorable experience. As the summer grew nearer and the sun warmer, we went on our Junior outing at Ferring's Pond on the Myles Standish Reservation. The boys, particularly, will never forget this outing. Boy did they eat!

The year of departure has arrived at last, September—1956. We will never forget that date, for this is our final year with the long-awaited title of "Seniors." This has been a wonderful fully packed year; surely one to be remembered in our memories for years and years to come. With Charles Kenney as president, Joyce Dimock as vice-president, Nancy Brackett as secretary, and John Collins as treasurer, our many activities started booming. The Harvest Festival was our first dance with decorations of autumn spelling out the theme. The Juniors held their annual dance for the Freshman with Claudette Gautreau reigning as Queen. Our basketball season began and we all hoped for a successful year.

The Class of "57," despite a heavy snow fall, held their "Cinderella Ball" with Pauline Bonneau chosen Cinderella and Clarence Swain as her Prince Charming. Pauline's Lady-in-Waiting was Lorraine Gelinas.

Our scheduled basketball season came to a close, and we found ourselves qualified as Tech Tourney participants. Drawing the highly praised Somerville High School team as our first opponent, the Artisans staged one of the greatest upsets in the history of the Tech Tourney. We were then qualified as a Tech Tournament team. We extended the quarter finals pitted against the fast and highly-regarded Roxbury Memorial High School team. Thirty-two minutes of hectic thrills ended in a victorious two point win. At this point, the hard fighting trade team injected new spirit into the student body and faculty. Traveling to Boston to encounter Lynn English High School in the semi-finals. We made the name of New Bedford Vocational High School a name to be remembered by topping Lynn English 61-59. A dream come true, we were one of the two teams to represent Eastern Massachusetts in the championship finals.

Knowing the road to Boston quite well, but without the company of John Collins, who was representative from our school in Good Government Day exercises held in the State House, we arrived at Boston Garden amid a capacity crowd. From the first point to the final buzzer, the Mackmen kept the Garden rocking with excitement. Much to our dismay, our highly-spirited quintet met defeat in the last forty seconds. Needless to say, we were not defeated spiritually. To us they will always be champions! Hats off to Mr. Mackintosh and Mr. Janiak!

We were honored to learn that our own Paul Gomes was the recipient of the Henry McCarthy Award honoring the Tech Tourney's most valuable player.

The Seniors sponsored a dance congratulating the boys for bringing much honor to their school and to their city.

Now we embark on our journey into life, each going his separate way. We will never forget our friends, although we may never meet again, and our fond memories of Voke.

CLASS

PROPHECY

Class Prophecy

The time is 1967. The place is the New Bedford Municipal Airport. The New Bedford Vocational High School, Class of 1957 is going to hold a reunion in Africa.

Everyone begins to board the plane. Rene Cormier, a prominent mechanic, is one of the first to board and of course Donald Racine is close behind. Jack Kimball is all smiles because his government check came on time for the trip.

A few girls flock in a corner of the airport. We recognize one as Simonne Cote and, in the center of the group, is the ladies' man, Don Souza.

There is a low murmur on the plane and we perk up to see who it can be. Sitting in one of the seats is Del Angers reciting poetry to Irene Yates. Then we see Bill Days, who is still in one.

Bernie Carey, an executive officer in the Marine Corps, quietly takes his seat but Perry Carreau comes bursting in dying to tell him about his new invention — an automatic shoe lacer.

Dressed like a "million" comes Gus Correia and Frank Diffley, top men of a seltzer firm. Stafford Hart, president of the Ford Agency, and Hector LaPlante, a famous florist, are next to come aboard. We also see Len Lewis, blushing.

Dick Mandeville is next, looking rather unhappy. We later find out he is mourning the death of his idol, Elvis. Ray Messier comes stomping in with his drums, determined to learn to play like a great tribesman.

Up in the corner everyone stops to hear a duet made up of Bob Cazemiro with his guitar and little Anne Thomas with her harmonica.

John Joba is listening to George Johnson tell about the competition he is giving Howard. We hear Bob Mis has written a best-selling western entitled "The Vapor Kid."

Dave Steele is trying to talk George Proulx, a great movie gangster, still talking out of the corner of his mouth, into buying the handcuffs that he manufactures.

Connie Beaulieu comes in looking rather tired. We understand she is still weak for Eddie. Terry Berard, Norma Burgess, and Lynette Chicoine, all nurses, are arguing over who has assisted in the most operations.

Most of us have seen Ellen Casey earlier, since she booked our passages for the trip. Medina "Lopes" in with a huge box. She has baked us a cake using Mrs. Oldfield's old recipe. Gerry Harrison is strangely quiet trying to figure out plays for her basketball team.

Shirley O'Brien comes in wearing the latest fashions. Karen White also looks wonderful in her Waves uniform. Just as the plane starts its motors Ann Perrier comes running in — late as usual.

As we travel over the ocean we have some entertainment. Mickey Miller, singing her latest Rock 'n' Roll recording, and Rita Millette still singing "Abba Dabba."

When we arrive in Africa we receive a telegram saying that Bob Macmillan will be unable to come for he is locked in the British "cabinet." We see Pat Mastera heading for a store to buy a bottle of starch. Bill Soares trails along to get some iodine. In the distance we see A. Laine walking down the street and there's Ray Babineau scrubbing up.

We set up our tents and went sight-seeing. We noticed Carl DeRocha exterminating man-eating ants. Lo and behold! there's Walt Gajewski teaching the natives how to polka, and Jerry Gautreau and Fred Best giving the giraffes crew-cuts. Larry Houbre is opening an Italian restaurant and Jim Kay is opening an African jewelry store, featuring diamond-studded pineapple rings. Joe O'Brien is on the scene with a pizza parlor.

Ronnie Mayo, sniffing expert for a foreign perfume industry, and Don Nolin, still sleepy-eyed, are talking about Bill Refuse, who is still turning them away.

While we are talking to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher, the former Nancy Brackett, and Maurice Desorcy, the French expert on "de flying saucies," Clarence Swain comes whipping in on his magic carpet searching for Cinderella. When Joe Andrade saw this, he tripped over an ant and broke his toe.

Here comes Demetrious Konstantakos, Ambassador to Ireland and, still stomping around in his boots, is little Dick Collard. From the looks of things Ray Clerc is here hooting it up.

Eric DeMello, now the star of the Tarzan movies, and Carl Costa, a great comedian, claim the Bruce Cathcart is still remembered in Brockton. Gil Alves is running up and down the beach trying to get in shape. There's Bill Hubbard digging around for bones.

We see where Walt Kurowski is operating a kielbasa stand. Arnold Fernandes, Russell Leonard, and Roger Marshall decide to go on a fishing trip together. They hear the "Carassitis Ceuratuz," alias the gold fish, are biting .

We hear faint music from afar. After investigating we find Ernie Rogers giving the baboons guitar lessons, a-la Presley!

As we start back for camp Irene Fernandes and Janet Moniz walk by giggling. Sam Lowe smiles at them.

Jerry Goulart and Leon Sylvia suggest that we go on an elephant hunt, so we ask Cal Dillies to be our guide. Pauline Bonneau feels this is a good time to find her glass slipper in the jungle. Joann Connor won't be coming because a native is teaching her how to bongo dance and she seems very interested.

Lorraine Gelinas and Joann Kowalczyk are ready. Dianne Gratton decides that this will be a good chance to look for peanuts. Jeanne Rheaume announces that Judy Barrett is ready for the trip. She comes out in her "Alice Blue gown." Betty Bettencourt isn't going. She's afraid of elephants and Paulette Bonneau is afraid that that special Navy cruiser might go by and she won't be there to wave.

Theresa Duarte feels very much alone. Pat still hasn't returned, but Joyce Dimock, now a missionary, assures her that everything is all right. Barbara Sylvia pins on her badge and starts directing elephant traffic. Everyone begins to climb aboard the elephants. We hear Lennie Boehler tell Roger Boucher, Ernest Duval, and Freddie Koczera, well-known mechanics, that cars ride much smoother, but are more expensive to run. Arnold Fonseca, owner of a new Caddie, agrees instantly. John Luby, well-known Chevrolet dealer, claims that they might be bad for business.

Charlie Ricard, Al Pacheco, Charlie Mindle, and John Blair are trying to rig up a walkie-talkie for the trip. We see Joe Cordeiro looking a bit worried. We understand he is thinking of starting a machine shop here, but is wondering if the natives would go for it.

Just then we hear hammering above us — John Amaral, Bruce Faulkner, and Bernie Gauvin who are building a tree house. They want to leave something to be remembered by. The procession starts with Betty Conceicao cheering us on. We had traveled quite a way when we ran into some quicksand. Melvin Perry yells, "Watch out for the quicksand!" Roger Peloquin yells back, "What quick—gulp!" Nice knowing you, Rog!

All was quiet until a native started chasing John Collins, but John won because he is used to dodging bombs and running away from the Fall River Police.

Up ahead we see a familiar sight. There's Homer Desrochers painting stripes on zebras, while Bill Marginson holds the paints singing at the top of his lungs, "From the Halls of Montezuma."

Lorraine Lopes let out an "Isn't that cute!" when she saw a snake hanging out of a tree, while Pat Cormier nearly died of fright.

From a listance we hear the squealing of tires. Along comes Viv Peloquin jeeping it through the rubber trees. Meanwhile back in the peace and quiet of the camp, Pinky Ramos is teaching the native boys to play the famous Gomes-style basketball.

Nancy Duckworth is talking to Virginia Blaine and Pauline Blanchard, all housewives, telling them how she persuaded a native to give her the recipe for Cannibal Soup. Barb Fidalgo is making some delicious cookies to go with it, while Eugenia Burgo, Pauline Caron, Marie Evora, Doris Fields, Delores Medeiros, and Barbara Tardiff cook the main course. When we do eat, Phyllis Boudreau, a famous waitress from "Raymond's", that elegant restaurant, serves us.

Pat Almeida, Janice Deneault, and Irene Morgado are taking care of the children, most of which are Karen Spence's.

In a distance the elephants are returning. The ladies of the hunt, Barbara Downey and Madeline Cafferty, are the first. Everyone seems to be excited. Gerry LaBossiere has been named Grand High Wiser of the Bantu Tribe.

Charlie Kenney says that this calls for a celebration, and begins at once to set up the plans. Clever Claire Warsoski opens up a beauty salon in preparation for the festivities.

The show went over well, especially when Joan Blanchette skated and George Clark, the stand-in for Bob Hope, told jokes. At the end of the show a door prize was given. Margaret Thomas won, naturally.

We sleep well that night and the next morning we wave goodbye, with sad hearts, to the natives of wonderful Africa and poor Roger, never to forget the reunion of the New Bedford Vocational High School, Class of 1957.

CLASS WILL

Class Will of 1957

We, the members of the Senior Class of 1957, of New Bedford Vocational High School, City of New Bedford, Bristol County, Commonwealth of Massachusetts; being of sound mind and memory, do hereby solemnly make our last will and testament.

We, collectively and individually, bequeath the following:

To Mr. Mackintosh, we leave our sincere thanks for his wise counsel and unfailing assistance during our four years at Vocational.

To the faculty, we leave our deep appreciation of their efforts to give us a clear outlook on life.

To the Juniors, we leave the hope that they enjoy their Senior year as much as we did.

To the Sophomores, we leave the anticipation of becoming upper-classmen.

To the Freshmen, we leave the prospect of four happy years at Vocational.

WILL OF THE GRADUATES

Del Angers leaves the unrepaired telephones in the Electrical Department.

Theresa Berard, Paulette Bonneau, and Norma Burgess leave hoping to become successful in their nursing careers.

John Blair leaves broke.

Joan Blanchette leaves the brownies at Dan's for someone with a big appetite.

Pauline Bonneau leaves "singing the blues."

Phyllis Boudreau leaves three-quarters of an inch taller.

John Collins leaves twenty pounds to some skinny Freshman.

Nancy Brackett leaves a jar of sour pickles, one bag of potato chips, and a box of crackers that mysteriously disappeared from the kitchen.

Madeline Cafferty and Barbara Downey leave the happiest four years of their lives.

Freddie Best and Fred Koczera just leave.

Gerard Carreau has nothing to leave, he took everything.

Lynette Chicoine leaves Mrs. Oldfield's refrigerator empty.

Homer Desrochers leaves faster than the speed of light.

Jerry Goulart leaves Mr. Leclair with grey hair.

Irene Yates leaves all the keys she has lost.

Larry Houbre leaves smiling.

Margaret Thomas leaves with deep regret.

Charlie Kenney leaves hoping to repay Mr. Mack and Vocational for his second chance toward an education and success.

Barbara Sylvia leaves her position as traffic chief to someone with good lungs.

Walter Kurowski leaves his broken-down locker to some poor unfortunate Junior.

Yvonne Ramos leaves with everything she can.

Ray Messier leaves his temper in hopes of getting a better one.

Marilyn Miller leaves with the philosophy that there are three sides to every story, their side, your side, and the right side.

Shirley O'Brien leaves the school's largest absence record.

Al Pacheco leaves all his unsigned late slips.

Barbara Tardiff leaves waiting for a certain sailor to get out of the Navy, so they can sail the "Sea of Matrimony" together.

Irene Fernandes and Karen White leave waiting for their careers in the service.

Connie Beaulieu leaves waiting for Eddie to graduate.

Gil Alves leaves his track shoes to some fleet-footed under classman.

Joe Andrade leaves Ed Harrison his shop coat.

Joann Kowalczyk happily leaves her Guidance book.

Ray Pedro leaves by the back door.

Eugenio Burgo leaves all the Chemistry formulas to some scientifically-minded future Senior.

Bill Hubbard and Bob Mis leave their broom to some unfortunate junior.

John Joba leaves a book on how to get out of trouble.

Paulette Bonneau leaves her seat in the back of Miss Burchell's room.

Bruce Faulkner leaves the framing square to Mr. Demoranville.

Pat Cormier leaves all Algebra problems to some poor Junior.

Joe Cordeiro leaves his footprints.

Gerry Harrison leaves the teachers in peace.

We, the members of the Senior Class, leave our best wishes to the entire faculty and student body.

In witness thereof, we set our hand, seal, and signature on this eighteenth day of June in the year of our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-seven.

Respectively submitted,

ELLEN CASEY
